LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

To His Excellency,

THOMAS W. BICKETT,

Governor of North Carolina.

SIR:—Pursuant to the requirements of the statute creating this branch of the State Government and acts supplemental thereto, I have the honor to submit herewith the Thirty-first report of the Department of Labor and Printing for the State of North Carolina covering the biennial period 1917-1918.

The popularity of the form in which the report has previously been issued, it is thought, justifies the retention, under the biennial publication, of the same rule followed heretofore. Always it is the purpose of the Department to enlarge the scope of the information, and to present as completely and succinctly as possible the facts desired to be carried. Only by the employment of field agents will it be possible to make the report complete in every detail.

As is also permitted, it is desired to submit, for your consideration, and for the information of the General Assembly, some recommendations that the Department feels should be presented and acted upon by our lawmaking body. It is the opinion of this office that the age at which children should be permitted to work in industrial plants, or workshops, should be raised to fourteen years for day service and that adequate machinery be provided for effective law enforcement. Only with complete inspection can a proper condition relative to child labor be reached.

Safety requirements for machinery, boilers, etc., should be enacted, as well as sanitary laws, and statutes looking to the prevention of fires and accidents. North Carolina is well toward the foot of the list of states providing statutes along the line suggested, and it may be that the reason for this lies in a general misunderstanding between the advocates of remedial legislation of the character outlined and the operators of industrial plants over the State.

The United States Government is endeavoring to maintain existing industrial standards by writing into its contracts for supplies the provisions of the Child Labor Law recently overruled by the Federal Supreme Court, which, it will be remembered, was voided on a technicality. Practically, the same law is effective in all of the progressive states of the Union, and our own State should take a decided stand, without further delay, in favor of legislation which will meet the test of humanitarianism at each turn of the way through all future years. Our slogan should be: "Save the women and children for the world."

Respectfully submitted,

M. L. SHIPMAN,
Commissioner.

RALEIGH, N. C., December 2, 1918.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTORY

The General Assembly for 1917 changed the Report of the Department of Labor and Printing from an annual to a biennial publication. In future the report will be issued in even years—1918, 1920, etc.

It has been especially difficult to secure a fairly complete list of the factories this year, many of those reporting in former years having changed hands, some of them gone out of business, and some new ones having been established during the two years elapsing since the last blank was sent out.

Chapter II, Farms and Farm Labor, shows, in Table I, conditions of farm and labor, employment, trend of cost of living. Table II covers questions of tendency toward diversification of crops, and improvement in method of cultivation, wages, and financial condition of laborers. Table III shows cost of production of various farm products. Table IV shows condition of roads, education, religion, and morals, and general trend of each.

Chapter III, The Trades, shows, in Table I, prevalence of labor organization, wages by trades, method of payment, and increase or decrease of wages. Table II shows unit of working time, period of payment, permanency of employment, cost of living. Table III shows hours constituting day's work; wage-earners' idea of what should constitute day's work; per cent of literacy. Table IV shows period of apprenticeship, improvement in education, moral and financial conditions.

Chapter IV, Cotton, Woolen, and Silk Mills. Table I shows mills by counties, executive officers, year established, capital stock, name of selling agent, and whether mill spins or weaves, or both. Table II shows class of goods made, number spindles, number looms, number cards, kind of power used, horsepower, approximate amount of raw material used; progress of employees. Table III shows number of employees, classified; hours, wages, and when paid, per cent of literacy, persons dependent on operation of factory for livelihood, observance of labor laws. Included under this head, but treated separately, will be found the woolen, silk, and cordage mills.

Chapter V, Knitting Mills. This division carries the same information relative to knitting mills as occurs under Chapter IV with relation to cotton mills.

Chapter VI, Furniture Factories. Table I shows factories by counties, name of president, goods manufactured, year incorporated, capital stock, kind of power used, number of horsepower. Tables II and III show number of days in operation during year, hours constituting day's work, number dependent on factory, wages, per cent of literacy, estimated value of plant, estimated annual output.

Chapter VII, Miscellaneous Factories. Under this head are treated the establishments not falling under specific heads, that is to say, all manufacturing plants which do not show any one division of industry sufficiently large to require separate treatment. It is not the purpose to enumerate herein sawmills, gristmills, or cotton gins, except as the magnitude of a single mill would seem to place it in the class of factory; grinding mills are classed as factories when they buy corn and wheat and sell flour, meal, or grits, but are not classed as factories when they grind for toll and sell no other product beyond toll earned. Sawmills doing a general lumber business are classed as factories, while small mills, doing only a local business, are not. Not that it would not be desirable to enumerate these concerns in our report, but because it has been found impossible to secure a list of these small concerns; many of them are temporary, and many change ownership and location so frequently as to make reliability of reports not dependable. At the same time it has not been possible to secure the names of all the large concerns doing business in the State, under the present law, which does not make it obligatory upon manufacturers to report. Table I shows factories by counties, name of president and secretary or treasurer, article manufactured, capital, when established, and Table II shows estimated value of plant, value of output, time in operation, hours constituting day's work, kind of power used, number of horsepower, number of employees, classified; condition of labor market, per cent of literacy among employees. Table III shows wages, when paid, increase or decrease, prevalence of union labor, improvement of employees in financial condition and general proficiency.

Chapter VIII, Newspapers. Summary shows classification by period of publication and politics, and total circulation of each class. Table I shows list of papers by counties, how published, editor and proprietor. Table II shows day of publication, class, date of establishment and circulation. Table III shows number of employees, wages, etc.

Chapter IX, Railroads and Employees. Shows alphabetical list of roads, number of officers and employees, by classes and wages.

Where the term "children" is used, with reference to division of class of laborers, it is intended to mean persons under sixteen years of age.

APPENDIX

In this division of the report has been grouped all other available information properly bearing on the subjects covered in the pages preceding it, to which reference is invited. In this will be found a classified list of industries, together with the labor laws as applied to mines, mills, and factories.

CHAPTER II

FARMS AND FARM LABOR

Farming activities in the State this year have produced a situation which is generally considered most favorable. Weather conditions retarded early planting in some sections and the summer drought prevented a maximum yield of corn and cotton over a broad expanse of fertile fields from the foothills to the coastal plains. However, record crops of wheat, rye, potatoes, soy and velvet beans, and numerous varieties of vegetables adapted to North Carolina soil are reported. Hot dry weather hindered the growth and development of cotton, with the result that this crop is scarcely up to the average this year. Likewise, unseasonable weather in the late summer and early frosts in the western counties have cut short the corn crop to a considerable extent, although it is believed that a sufficiency for home consumption has been garnered, and enough to share liberally with the Allies of America in the world war for liberty. But for the serious shortage of farm labor the surplus of various crops would be far in excess of what it is. Every county in the State reports labor scarce, and vigorous action has been taken by local authorities to enlist the coöperation of every available citizen of earning capacity in working and harvesting crops of various kinds.

Farm products have steadily increased in price since the last issue of this report. Cotton, corn, and wheat have brought especially good prices, and the demand for truck and by-products has been such as to make any produce suited to this locality highly profitable to the producer. Gradually the necessity for shipping fruits, berries, and vegetables into local markets is disappearing, for the reason that home-grown supplies of this character are becoming more and more available. No such observation can be applied to pork and beef products, butter and eggs. There are times when it is almost impossible to secure either of the above four articles, except of the cold-storage variety, and there has never been a time, within a generation, which offered greater inducements for dairying, growing stock and raising poultry. The cheese industry is assuming proportions and faces a future fraught with many possibilities.

Notable among the agencies at work for the improvement of farms and farming methods is the State's Agricultural and Engineering College, both in the development of the younger generation and in the help it has placed at the call of the older farmers in short courses, etc., and the splendid activities of the State Department of Agriculture, through its corps of office men and advisers, as well as the experiment farms and traveling demonstrators, who are doing effective work for the betterment of general farm conditions in rural communities.

In the present emergency an equitable distribution of the State's labor is essential. There is grave danger of even a more serious shortage in farm labor, and the coöperation of every citizen is needed in the effort to induce the unemployed to take up agricultural pursuits—a field in which the demand for help is generally far in excess of the supply. Thousands of our young men are either in training camps or at the front, and the shortage in farm labor is bound to be still more keenly felt unless some way can be found whereby the employers in cities and towns may join hands with the farmers in working out a just and equitable distribution of our labor supply. For there is no way around facing the fact that bread is just as essential as bullets in carrying on a war.

Reports indicate that the value of land has increased in every county of the State during the last biennial period; that fertility in all has been maintained, and that labor is scarce. Tendency towards smaller farms and more intensive farming in eighty-one; to larger ones in sixteen, and no noticeable change in three. Ninety-one counties report labor irregular, seven regular, and two "about the same." Public highways are reported good in twenty-one counties and fair in all the others; improving in seventy-eight; getting slightly better in eighteen. All except seven of the counties of the State report public opinion favorable to the construction and maintenance of public thoroughfares by methods of taxation.

Wage conditions show a healthy increase over previous reports. Present scale: Highest average paid men, per day, $1.92; lowest, $1.16; highest paid women, $1.15; lowest, 76 cents. Average wages of children, 62 cents. A general increase is noted in all the counties. The financial condition of wage-earners on the farms is reported good in thirty-six counties, fair in sixty-two, slightly better in the remaining two. Educational condition good in ten, fair in eighty-eight, medium fair in two. Improving in eighty-nine, slight advancements in eight, and "not much change" in three. On the whole, the educational and financial condition of agricultural workers shows marked improvement over that prevailing when the report of this Department was last issued. A tendency toward more favorable conditions for this class of workers is clearly apparent and will doubtless be met in a spirit of coöperation on every hand.

The tables following present the facts from which the deductions for this summary were taken.

CHAPTER III

THE TRADES

The State is steadily progressing along all lines of industrial endeavor, and the people some time ago set themselves to the task of keeping abreast of the times. Capital and labor in North Carolina are on distinctly friendly terms and labor disturbances are rare occurrences in our commonwealth. There is a hopeful tendency towards even more favorable conditions for the wage-earner as the demand for his services increases with the great industrial awakening now existent. Employers realize that "the laborer is worthy of his hire," and voluntary advances in the wage scale have been frequent occurrences in North Carolina the past year. This has not been confined to any particular class of workers. It applies to factory, farm—to every trade and profession. Wages were never higher in this State than they are today, nor has the demand for labor ever been greater. Skilled workers of every trade have enlisted with those who are engaged in perfecting Government plans for the successful prosecution of the war, and their absence is felt in every industry and business activity. But labor has determined to do its best in helping win the war, and the average North Carolina worker feels deeply the obligation laid upon him in this great crisis. While necessity requires, the home field must be neglected, for what will home profit us if we do not win the war? So far, no industry in the State apparently has been seriously impaired for lack of labor, although the scarcity of efficient help is being keenly felt in some sections.

The wage-earners, with all other patriotic North Carolinians, are assisting, to the utmost extent of their ability, in the prosecution of the part the United States has taken in the world struggle for democracy. They realize that victory for civilization upon the battle-fields of France can be won only by the full exertion of the man-power of the entire country; that full mobilization of that power means not only the placing of a sufficient number of soldiers in Europe, but the unstinted exertion of every able-bodied person in the United States in some field of adequate and useful employment; that the war must be fought by the nation at home as well as by the soldiers upon the field of conquest. Therefore, a large percentage of the toilers of this State have this year been devoting their energies to the execution of co-operative plans, with the Government, in endeavoring to secure the maximum effort on the part of all the people in producing record crop yields and utilizing every resource in making our man-power effective both at home and in Government war activities everywhere. There is no room for the labor slacker in North Carolina. "Work or fight" is the slogan which has been and is still being used with telling effect from one end of the State to the other. Barring a few trifling experiences with professional exploiters of labor, the State has found little difficulty in adjusting the labor situation to new and changed conditions.

Through all the exciting scenes and activities of the past year, our people have been able to maintain existing laws and standards relative to the employment of women and children reasonably well. They have tried to avoid the experience England had in the early part of the war, when the health and efficiency of her female workers became seriously impaired through long and continued hours of labor, because more workers were not available. Vigorous action has been taken to enlist the coöperation of every citizen of earning capacity, and efforts in this direction have been worth while. Labor is loyal in North Carolina.

Since the last previous issue of this Report (1916) conditions in the trades have undergone such radical and rapid changes as to make it almost impossible to present an account of the status at this time. War work of various kinds has drawn upon the different lines to such an extent that the local demand far exceeds the number of tradesmen available, with a consequent increase in wages, or charges, such wages or charges changing so rapidly as to prevent any stable price being set. The figures shown in the tables under this head were asked for on July 1st and reported over a period covering July, August, and September. The condensed form of the tables, showing the conclusions on each question, is such as to make it unnecessary to summarize the wages, hours, apprenticeship, etc., as has formerly been the practice.

CHAPTER IV

COTTON, CORDAGE, SILK, AND WOOLEN MILLS

COTTON MILLS

Along with the advance in price of other materials, the selling value of the products of cotton mills in North Carolina has advanced in proportion. The mills, as a rule, have run to capacity, and the reports sent in to this office indicate that the normal steady growth of the permanent and substantial phases of the industry shown since its beginning has been kept up, notwithstanding the abnormal conditions under which the industry has operated for the past two years. Cotton (raw material) has been high throughout the entire period, and while wages paid by the mills seem not to have been advanced to the high levels reached in some other lines, it does not appear that the present wages will be subject to the reductions that may reasonably be expected to take place where the greatest advances have been made. Taken as a whole, the period seems to have been one of satisfactory improvement, both to the mills and to the employees.

Below will be found the tables of figures relating to the various details.

The number of mills reporting is 331. Of this number 298 report capital stock, which aggregates $70,542,492. The number of spindles is given as 4,456,314; looms, 69,784; cards, 12,155; and the number of horse-power employed, 180,651. The approximate amount of raw material used was 492,925,075 pounds; the estimated value of yearly output, $373,924,860. Total number of employees reported is 68,292. Of these, 35,476 are males, 25,087 are females, 7,729 are children (under 16 years of age). The estimated number dependent on these mills and on the 68,292 employees for a livelihood, 194,747. The percentage of employees who read and write is given as 88.

The high average wages for males is $4.38; low average is $1.78. High average for females $2.84; low average, $1.51. Two hundred and thirty mills pay wages weekly; eighty-three pay twice a month; one pays daily; seventeen do not report.

One hundred and fifty establishments report the use of electric power; 49 use steam; 59 use electric and steam; 28 use steam and water; 11 electric and water; 9 steam, water, and electric; 16 water and steam; 9 do not report.

One hundred and twenty-six of the mills spin and weave; 190 spin only; 6 weave only; 9 bleach and finish.

CHAPTER V

KNITTING MILLS

The knitting industry of the State shows a gratifying growth during the last biennial period, as indicated by the reports for 1918. The increases in amount of capital, the value of yearly output, and the number of persons employed is especially noteworthy. The wage increases are about what might be expected under the conditions prevalent.

Several standardized brands of North Carolina knit goods are becoming well known throughout the United States, and it is probable that the post-war demands abroad will further extend the bounds of their selling territory.

The total number of mills reporting this year is 131, an increase of 44 over report for 1916.

The table below is a condensed summary from the complete tables in the following pages:

CHAPTER VI

FURNITURE FACTORIES

The Furniture Factories represent a branch of industry in North Carolina that has been affected adversely by the war. In addition to the restrictions placed on them in the nature of product, their raw material has been high in price and difficult to secure. The number of factories reporting is 89, as against 96 reporting for 1916. It is expected that as soon as the supply of materials is replenished and the war industries restrictions removed, the business will resume its normal progress.

The conclusions drawn from the correlated reports are shown in the following condensed table:

Twenty-four of these factories pay compensation weekly; fifty-eight semimonthly; and all report that wages have materially increased.

Sixty-nine of the plants use steam for power; seven employ electricity; five steam and electric; one steam and water, and three operate machinery by hand.

The average number of hours constituting a day's work is ten hours and six minutes; week, sixty-one hours.

CHAPTER VII

MISCELLANEOUS FACTORIES

In the division of industrial establishments treated under this head (which includes all manufacturing concerns reporting that are not presented in the tables referring to cotton, woollen, silk or knitting mills, or furniture factories), a growth consistent with that of former years is shown by increases in capital employed, value of yearly output, and number of employees.

The total number of returns from which this compilation is made is 1,568, and an analysis of the reports collected shows gratifying progress along lines of industry representing a wide variety of products. The number of different articles made is increasing continually and consistently.

In the appendix will be found a list of the miscellaneous factories, classified and alphabetized for convenience in the location of plants producing specific articles.

CHAPTER VIII

NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS

The last biennial period has witnessed numerous changes in the ownership and management of the State's newspapers and periodicals. No less than forty small weeklies have suspended publication since the country went to war and other classes of publications have been similarly affected. A number of consolidations are reported and there is a tendency towards fewer and better papers.

The number of establishments reporting is 280. Only the afternoon dailies show an increase in number and circulation over the last report. The circulation of the morning dailies is advanced from 79,273, in 1916, to 93,721 this year. The total circulation of all publications two years ago was 1,460,745; for 1918, 1,121,627, a decrease of 339,018. This condition is accounted for by restrictions placed upon newspapers by the War Industries Board and the enormous advance in the price of print paper.

The value of plants reported by 192 establishments is $1,841,424. A considerable number of publications own no equipment and are printed by contract. Two hundred and seven papers report the employment of 1,383 persons in various departments. Two hundred and thirteen of these estimate an aggregate yearly pay-roll of $1,596,121. Highest average daily wage of establishments reporting, $3.90; lowest average $1.53. Average number of hours constituting a day's work, eight and 52 minutes.

Electricity, gas, and gasoline predominate as motive power, but the use of small motors, or engines, only are required, and the aggregate number of horsepower in operation is comparatively small.

In the tables following will be found a list of all the publications reporting, the names of editors and proprietors, postoffice address, day of publication, year of establishment, class of publication, and circulation of each. The summary preceding these shows the number and class of publications, together with the combined circulation of each class.

CHAPTER IX

RAILROADS AND EMPLOYEES

The five larger railroads operating in the State report number of employees* for the entire system this year, instead of for that part of the road operating in North Carolina, which makes it impracticable to show operatives by localities.

On the following page will be found the number of each class of employees, the figures being for the combined five roads, together with the total compensation. The railroads operating entirely within the State do not report wages.

*From reports made to the North Carolina Corporation Commission.

It is the purpose, in this division of this report, to furnish such information, relative to the general subjects treated in former chapters, as seems to be desirable, which are yet of such diverse nature as to be impracticable of handling under those heads. The reception accorded this addition to the report has justified its continuation.

COTTON ACREAGE HARVESTED AND PRODUCTION, BY STATES, FOR SELECTED YEARS: 1839 TO 1917.

[Quantities are given in running bales, except that round bales are counted as half bales. Linters are excluded. Census statistics of acreage prior to 1879 are not available. The statistics of acreage and of production for the census years 1879, 1889, 1899, and 1909, and those of production since 1898, are census figures based on actual canvass, while the others are as estimated by the United States Department of Agriculture.]
